DISCLAIMER: This presentation may contain concepts about inclusion, empathy, awareness of social inequities, and how to be a better human. This may include topics such as racism, classism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia, xenophobia, and other "phobias" describing people who don't want to create a sense of belonging for those around them. If these topics bother you please remove yourself from this presentation. If they don't then thank you for being human KIND and let's begin!

HOLD ON A DOGGONE MINUTE:

WHO'S THIS "STEVE" GUY AND WHAT'S "TOPDOG"?

ABOUT DR. STEVE "DOC YOCK" YACOVELLI

Dr. Steve Yacovelli (a.k.a. "The Gay Leadership Dude®") is an expert in diversity and inclusion, change management, and leadership. He's worked internally for folks like The Walt Disney Company, IBM, Tupperware Brands, and several universities before starting his own consulting firm, TopDog Learning Group in 2008 (see what the heck is "TopDog" below). Steve holds a B.S. in Public Relations from Millersville University of Pennsylvania, an M.A. in Educational Policy & Leadership Development from The Ohio State University, and an Ed.D. in Instructional Technology & Distance Education from Nova Southeastern University.

Steve, contemplating life (or his next cup of coffee)

Steve's also an award-winning and best-selling author, speaker, and self-described "catalyst" for change. His previous book, "Pride Leadership: Strategies for the LGBTQ+ Leader to be King or Queen of their Jungle," "came out" in June 2019, and his latest book, "Your Queer Career®: Workplace Advice from 'The Gay Leadership Dude®" hit shelves in 2024.

Steve's not-so-hidden agenda is to make the world a bit more inclusive ... one leader at a time. He can be reached at owners@topdoglearning.biz.

WHAT'S THIS "TOPDOG" ANYWAY?

TopDog Learning Group, LLC is a leadership, learning and development, change management, and diversity and inclusion consulting firm based in Orlando, Florida, USA but with affiliations throughout the world. TopDog works with both Fortune 500s and not-for-profit organizations to bring about a more inclusive and effective workplace through on-site and virtual workshops, keynotes, 1:1 and group coaching sessions, and custom learning solutions. We've had the pleasure of working with such great organizations as The Walt Disney Company, Bayer, Merck, Charles Schwab, TD Bank, Hilton Worldwide, George Washington University, PBS, The Public Library Association, The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Sodexo, accenture, and BellSouth / AT&T, among many many other client-partners who we consider members of our "pack."

In addition, TopDog has partnered with several organizations to provide both face-to-face, virtual, and asynchronous (self-paced) online learning solutions on such topics as understanding diversity and inclusion, unconscious bias in the workplace, effective customer service, and stellar leadership development and talent management. www.topdoglearning.biz

EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW & GROW

AUTHENTICITY

In all the leadership workshops, conversations, and "best practice" chats I've had over the past twenty-plus years, the common thread throughout them all is to be inclusive and be respectful to others.

~ "The Gay Leadership Dude"

ID-ING YOUR PERSONAL VALUE SYSTEM (con't)

- After you go through the list, you'll probably have about 15 to 30 words that meant something to you. Take these words and write them on a Post-It® note or notecard. Cluster the words that are similar in meaning to you. If there's some words that are interchangeable to you, pick the one that most resonates to you. You'll probably end up with about 7 to 10 clusters.
- With your word clusters that are left, sort them in order of importance: the one you feel strongest about to the one end of your list and those you feel least strong about on the other.

COURAGE

WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

TOP 3 COURAGE CHALLENGERS

COURAGE

Courage isn't the absence of fear: it's the ability to confront it, stand your ground, and hold firm in your belief that what you're doing and why you're doing it—is right.

~ "The Gay Leadership Dude"

Try a new activity ... ESPECIALLY one you've never done or aren't particularly good at!

Delegate a work task to someone ... and DON'T micro-manage them!

EMPATHY

WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

"THE ELEPHANT & THE RIDER"

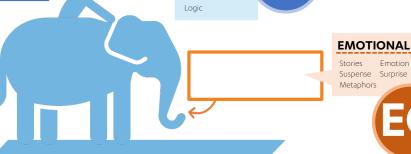

Having empathy and managing emotions are vastly underrepresented in our modern workplace. The focus on the numbers, return on investment, and fiscal results is over-shadowing our need to also balance this against how we're doing business, and how people feel about working for and with us.

EMPATHY

As the workplace demographics shifts, organizations—and smart leaders—best be looking at how to up their collective emotional intelligence or lose out in retaining the best talent and best customers.

THE "WHAT-WENT-WELL" JOURNAL ...

Each night write down the five things that went well during the day—could be big things (landed that big client!) to small things (the cafeteria had liver for lunch!). Some nights it will be easy to rattle off five, while other nights you'll struggle to get just one.

What you're doing is reprogramming your mind to look for the positive things in your world each day, especially on those really, really hard days.

Studies show within two to three months it will actually change your perception to be more positive. Oh, and use a separate notebook or even your smartphone to record your thoughts.

COMMUNICATION

WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

ACTIVE LISTENING

KEY PARAPHRASING STATEMENTS:

- "I'm not sure I'm with you, but what I'm hearing is ..."
- hearing you correctly ...'
- "So. from VOU perspective you see ..."
- "Listening to you, it seems as if ..."
- "So, as you see it, the thing you feel is most important is ...'
- "To me it's almost like vou're saying ..."

OPEN-ENDED QUESTIONS (OEQ'S):

- "Help me understand how you got to that perspective ..."
- "What alternatives have you thought about ...?"
  - "Wriat Go , mean by ... ?" "What do you
- "What could some of \(\bigcup_{\text{\tin}\text{\ti}\text{\text{\text{\text{\text{\text{\text{\text{\text{\texi}\tint{\text{\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\texit{\text{\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\text{\text{\texi}\text{\ the consequences be ...?"
- other possibilities are there...?"

- "What were the considerations that led up to this ...?"
- "Why is this element the most important aspect?"
- "Where might this rule not necessarily hold true?"
- "How else could this situation be explained?"

"SILENT COLLUSION" is when – while a disparaging remark, stereotypical perspectives, or any other hurtful phrase is said – no one says or does anything to refute the statement; people remain silent. That silence implies that the collective "we" agrees with that statement. As an LGBTQ+ Leader, we strive to create an inclusive environment, and that includes stopping uninclusive remarks, even if it's uncomfortable or icky. Here's six ways you can beat silent collusion in your workplace ... and beyond!

THE 6 WAYS TO BEAT SILENT COLLUSION

WHAT IT COULD SOUND LIKE

PROS

As a woman, Bob, I find that statement to be inaccurate. I consider myself a very good driver.

focuses on vou as a person, not the stereotype

could be perceived as confrontational

Call out any "absolutes," stereotypes, or gross generalizations you may hear

Ask yourself: "is the

that impacts me

personally?"

statement something

So, Bob, you've driven with every woman in the world?

it may bring the microinequity to the consciousness

could be perceived as confrontational

Point to a specific example that refutes the statement being said

Well actually, Bob, I think we would both agree that Juanita who drove us to lunch yesterday – is an awesome driver who happens to be female.

it illustrates an example that the person saving the microineauity can relate to could provide a way for the owner of the biased statement to "brush away" the microineauity they stated

Saying a non-word that at least indicates you don't agree with what's being said

Woah! Whaaat?

> Damn! Huh?

Bob, what exactly did you

mean by that statement?

speak volumes

not verv confrontational: sends the message you don't agree with the statement

it doesn't go far in addressing the statement: could be perceived as your typical reaction

Ask the person exactly what they meant by their comment

> vour non-verbal movement will directly addresses the statement, may allow the "microaggressor" to break out of their unconscious: be very careful of the tone in which you use

Physically remove your self for the situation

it's nothing more than acknowledging that vou don't agree with the statement; doesn't actually address it

neutral in tone

RELATIONSHIPS

You as the + Leader are Mr (or to be inclusive Ms or Mx) Green Jeans; it's your job to create the right context to not just start or plant the seeds of a relationship, but to cultivate and grow it.

WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

LEADERS BUILD RELATIONSHIPS THRU SUPPORT

HOW TO AMP UP YOUR RELATIONSIPS

GROW THE OTHERS ... Develop a plan to grow the other Leadership Competencies we've shared ... grow these while you grow your relationship-building skills!

DON'T DINE / CAFFEINATE ALONE ... There's an old saying about never having lunch alone. Take that to heart, and—at least twice a week—go to lunch or coffee with someone in your network. Mix it up: go with close allies and work acquaintances. Don't overplan but be prepared to build rapport and ask questions to get to know the other person. Approach these events as fun and not as a work-networking-thingy.

CULTURE

Managing change and shaping the organization is a powerful strategy for any leader. But I've seen only a small number of folks really do this well; and it's those who can balance the needs of the business with the human aspect that make up the organizations that succeed.

WHAT'S IT LOOK LIKE?

TOP 4 WAYS YOU CAN SUPPORT CULTURE CHANGE

HOW TO AMP UP YOUR CULTURE SKILLZ

BUILD THE CHANGE CASE: Identify something within your workplace that needs changing and make it happen. Be sure that you thoroughly identify the change, initiate the conversation about what you think is the change with the right stakeholders, and identify the resources and plan needed to make the change happen. Have courage and present this to your leadership and see what happens ... you just might make some change!

- What did you identify?
- What's the project plan for executing this change?
- How will you know if (and when) you succeeded?
- (After the change) What's changed for you as a leader as a result of this activity?
